Euphonium - Philip Sparke - Solo for Euphonium (optional piano) (CCM) The suite, created in 2010, is composed of seven movements: The First Shout, The Snow Ballad, The First Beloved, The Almost Lost Girl, The Great Bells, The Unicorn, On the Beach. The First Shout, The Snow Ballad, The First Beloved, The Almost Lost Girl, The Great Bells, The Unicorn, On the Beach. It can be listened to on the composer's Official website. The suite is dedicated to the Seven World Music Festivals in Tromsø in 2009. Written in 2010, The First Shout is a fast-tempo exploration of Shouting, played with the left hand, and featuring the five-note figure that underlies the American Shouting scale. The Snow Ballad is a very expressive and lyrical piece which celebrates the realisation of the fantasy world we create for ourselves. It is written in A minor, and has three repetitions of a virtuosic and dazzling, but brief, performance by the Euphonium. The First Beloved, The Almost Lost Girl, The Great Bells, The Unicorn, On the Beach is a suite. The first movement is an ethereal tune with introspective and meditative qualities. The second movement is a dramatic piece, depicting a love that has almost been lost. The third movement is a jubilant and playful piece, with the joyful sound of the bells of the local church of St. Michael and All Angels. The fourth movement is a stunningly beautiful and mysterious piece. The fifth movement is an uplifting finale that celebrates the freedom and beauty of this world. The sixth movement is a reprise of the opening tune, this time in a different mood, creating a sense of resolution and reassurance. The seventh movement is a new and beautiful tune, concluding the suite. Concertos The Ionian Concerto (18 March 2014), includes Oboe, Euphonium and Piano. Op. 35, First performance 18 March 2014, by the Priory Church
