I just upgraded to 4.1.0.01 and as soon as I ran the Upgrade the program crashed on me. The Repair tool won't even work. I'm guessing something has changed because that was working. Hey there - I can see you are having a problem with the upgrade process, but I would recommend turning off AutoCAD Map 3D in the service center. Then turn AutoCAD Map 3D back on and do a full repair. I had a similar issue with 4.1.0.01. It was also complaining that my license was expiring. I could not do a repair, but I had a friend get me an upgrade key (at no charge), and it worked fine. I suggest you try using the repair tool. It may work. I also had similar issues when I first started to use 4.1.0.01. Hopefully someone with more experience can help you get past this. It can be done through a Repair Tool. If you are not able to connect to the Internet to download the Repair Tool, you can download the complete AutoCAD Map 3D package and do the repair from that. When you install the package, you will get a setup screen that gives you the option to repair f3e1b3768c
