AirMagnet Survey is the industry's most accurate wireless network survey software solution for mapping, planning, and designing 802.11n/a/b/g/ac wireless LANs. AirMagnet Survey is based on a new wireless quality measurement model developed by Passtech. Using a combination of random search measurements, spatial data analysis, and traffic estimation, AirMagnet Survey provides information about the health of a wireless network, including parameters such as radio interference and quality of service. Measurement results are provided in a format convenient for visualization, analysis and comparison.
