Imipramine was given orally to intact and adrenalectomized adult Wistar rats for 7-day treatment periods in doses of 0.005-0.06 mg/kg/day. Imipramine had no effect on motor activity of intact rats in the open field. Adrenalectomized rats, however, exhibited a dose-dependent reduction of motor activity and increase of stereotypy activity in the open field, when treated with imipramine. Imipramine impaired performance of intact rats in the spontaneous alternation test, and it inhibited the impairment caused by adrenalectomy.A year from now, no one will remember how to spell "cloud computing." They will ask: How did it go? What were the lessons? The most significant one will be that by 2010, our applications will be part of a solution that is much larger than the sum of its parts, and that it's in our best interests to embrace this integration. If cloud computing is truly the next big thing, as some people believe, then it's time to learn how to make the most of it. In this year's BrightTALK...Functional evaluation of rat tail tendon with a novel speckle-tracking ultrasound technique. This study aimed to evaluate the potential of newly developed speckle-tracking ultrasound technique (STE) for assessing functional properties of rat tail tendons compared with conventional B-mode ultrasound. The nonlinear elastic modulus and stiffness parameters assessed using B-mode and STE in ten rat tails are comparable between genders and aged groups. B-mode ultrasound is a widely used technique for assessing functional properties of tendons. However, recent studies have reported a potential limitation of B-mode ultrasound in detecting changes in the tendons. Thus, we adapted the technique to evaluate functional properties of tendons. The nonlinear elastic modulus and stiffness parameters assessed using the novel technique, speckle-tracking ultrasound, in ten rat tails are comparable between genders and aged groups.The present invention relates to a new and distinct variety of yellow tomato plant, hereinafter denominated varietally as `Syl 3e33713323
