Upload videos and photos with just one click Following a quick and uneventful setup, you are prompted to log in to your Facebook account. You will be happy to learn that the application supports more than one account, a feature that can be quite useful if you are working in e-commerce or marketing. The idea behind the program is to help you connect all your business Facebook pages and simplify the way you keep your followers updated on your latest products or services. Not only is uploading videos or photos done with just one click, but you can also configure the album where the posts should be located, be it an existing album or a new one. Moreover, the app prevents duplicates from being uploaded and maintains your Facebook page clean. Create schedules for auto-uploading tasks Setting up the utility is a simple task that entails specifying only a few details, namely the desired page, whether you want to create a new album or use an existing one and if you prefer the media files uploaded right away or later on. Then again, you should remember to include the files you want to be uploaded to a dedicated folder or update the ones you already store there. It is worth mentioning that the program allows you to create automatic uploads at a given time (hour, minute and second) every day, an option that can save you a lot of time if you are addressing a well-established target audience. A handy utility for anyone working in marketing and advertisement All things considered, Pageperi is a straightforward app that automates the uploading of promotional materials to your Facebook accounts and hence, saves you some time that you can perhaps use for the creative part of the marketing campaigns Pageperi Description: Upload videos and photos with just one click Following a quick and uneventful setup, you are prompted to log in to your Facebook account.
